

The Identification Systems Group (ISG) Announces New Strategic Partner, DISO

Digital Identification Solutions joins the ISG as a photo ID card printer technology partner with the new ISG-branded PEAK RTX series

Shawnee, KS (PRWEB) August 1, 2013

The Identification Systems Group (ISG), the nationwide network of local identification system integrators, is pleased to announce its new strategic partner, Digital Identification Solutions (DISO). This new partnership brings superior retransfer printing technology to the ISG portfolio offering.

Modified specifically for the ISG, the PEAK RTX1000 printer produces beautiful and functional high definition IDs, access badges, membership and loyalty cards by way of its many field upgradeable features such as high resolution UV, contact/contactless smartcard encoding, and inline lamination.

“We are extremely pleased to offer this special version...through the ISG” says Shane Cunningham, DISO’s Director of Global Marketing.

“DISO is leading the US market in providing retransfer technology,” said Roger Sigler, executive director of the ISG. “Our strategic relationship with DISO further enhances our ability to offer the best products and solutions to our customers.”

“We are extremely pleased to offer this special version of our renowned retransfer card printing system through the ISG who desires to provide their customers with versatile and reliable premium desktop solutions,” says Shane Cunningham, DISO’s Director of Global Marketing. “The PEAK RTX1000 printer also gives ISG customers complete confidence that they will receive a gratifying return on their investment because of its durable construction, modular features and extended service life that sets the bar for the industry.”
