

The Identification Systems Group (ISG) Announces New Casino Track Software

ISG partner Mobile Solutions® releases new tracking software to verify casino players' age and identity, while recognizing barred patrons.

Shawnee, KS (PRWEB) December 15, 2015

The Identification Systems Group (ISG), the nationwide network of local identification system integrators, announces the availability of a solution for the casino and gaming market. Casino Track, a Mobile Solutions® identification and accountability software, is used to identify barred patrons of a casino or gambling organization by gathering and checking their information against exclusion list databases.

Patrons may be on various barred list databases, including State Voluntary, Local Barred, Self-Exclusion, and Gaming Player Removal. How to spot-check players against these barred lists has been a challenge for many casinos. With Casino Track, a simple and quick scan of a driver's license/state ID or player card provides an automated check against the databases.

Across the country, casinos have been hit with large fines from state gaming boards for having barred patrons on premise and failing to have adequate systems and procedures in place. Fines $100,000 or more have been levied.

Tom Stiles, ISG executive director, said "Casino Track provides tremendous benefits to modern casinos. Based on the potential fines, its inexpensive price tag provides a great return on investment and peace of mind. In addition, the system can be used to check in visitors at the security desk, check the barred lists, and print a visitor tag".
