

The Identification Systems Group (ISG) Donates Over $47,000 to Able to Serve

ISG Members & Partners donate over $47,000 to NC organization that offers life skills training to adults with various disabilities

Morganton, NC (PRWEB) December 21, 2021

The Identification Systems Group (ISG), the nationwide network of local identification system integrators, announced that it has donated over $47,000 to Able to Serve, a faith-based, community-funded nonprofit organization that believes every person, regardless of their abilities deserves the dignity of a fulfilling life. The funds were raised at the ISG's Annual Fall Meeting where Members and Partners made cash and check donations, as well as purchasing items in a charity silent auction.

"We are honored to help this important community organization" says David Lee, Executive Director of the ISG.

"We are honored to help this important community organization provide training and opportunity in a supportive environment," says David Lee, Executive Director of the ISG. "Able to Serve not only provides the life skill training that many need, but also gives them opportunities to give back to their community. By teaching them leadership skills, Able to Serve affirms their dignity through their service to others. We also want to give a special thanks to our Partner, Identiv, for donating $10,000 of the total through their sales promotion."

About Able to Serve

Able to Serve is a faith-based, community-funded nonprofit organization that believes every person, regardless of their abilities, is created by God to live a full life. Their core service is a day program that provides adults with disabilities with a supportive environment where they can reach their full potential as an integral part of God's creation. Their focus is on equipping them with life skills to be more independent and connecting them with opportunities to use their abilities to serve others in our community.
